Reconstruction is the era from 1865 to 1877 when the U.S. government attempted to rebuild the nation after the Civil War

During Reconstruction, the government had to readmit the seceded Southern states back into the Union

End slavery and protect newly emancipated slaves Rebuilt the South after more than four years of fighting

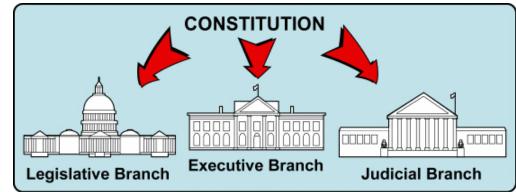

As the Civil War was ending, President Lincoln promised a Reconstruction Plan for the Union with "malice towards none and charity for all"

Abraham Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address But, the Constitution gave no guidelines on how to readmit states to the Union

The President and Congress disagreed over how to treat the Southern states

Lincoln favored a plan that would quickly re-admit the Confederate states once 10% of the people swore an oath of loyalty and states ratified the 13th Amendment to abolish slavery in America

"Radical Republicans" in Congress rejected Lincoln's plan because it was too lenient on ex-Confederates

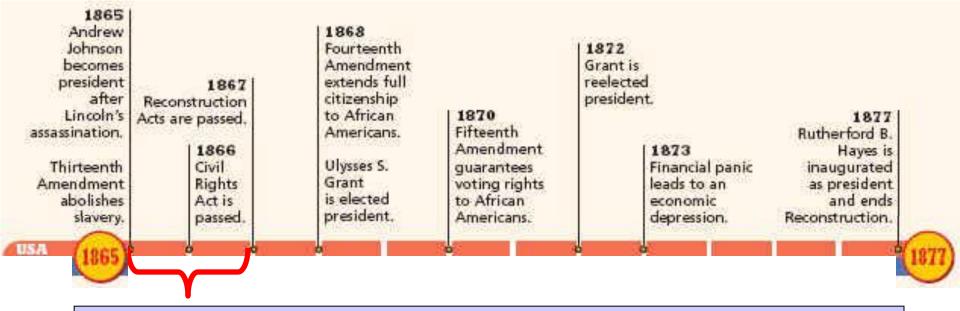

They favored a plan that protected blacks, required 50% of state citizens to swear a loyalty oath, and banned ex-Confederate leaders from serving in gov't

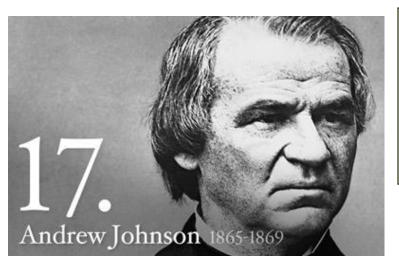

When the Civil War ended and Lincoln was assassinated, the government did not have a Reconstruction Plan in place

After Lincoln was assassinated in 1865, VP Andrew Johnson created a plan known as Presidential Reconstruction (1865-1867)

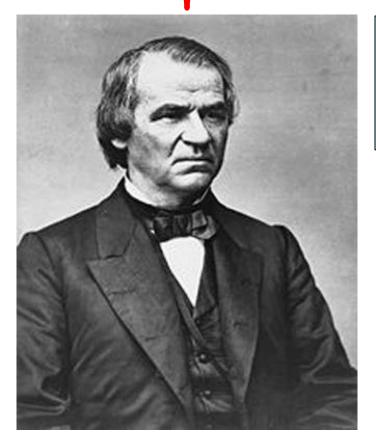

Johnson's plan was lenient on Confederate states because he wanted the South to rejoin the United States quickly

Amendment XIII -

We Be Deopy

1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation

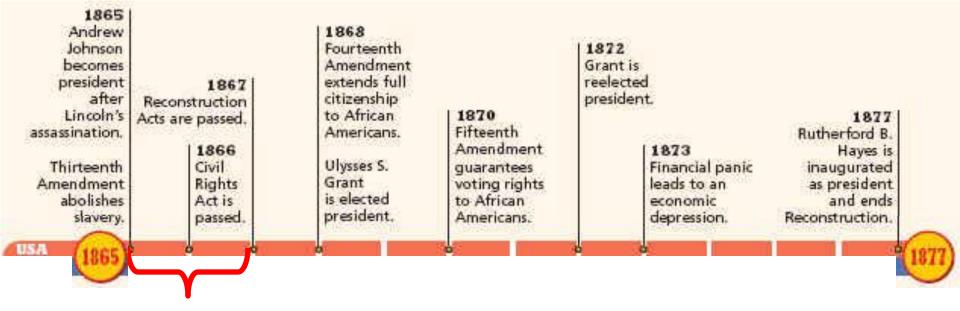

Presidential Reconstruction did not require Southern state governments to protect former slaves

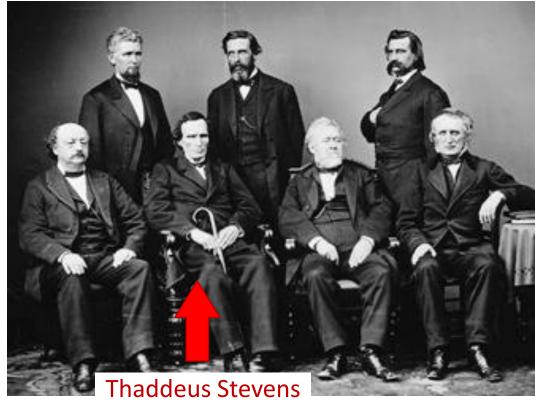

Southern states passed black codes to keep African Americans from gaining land, jobs, and protection under the law

IS A WHITE MAN'S GOFER

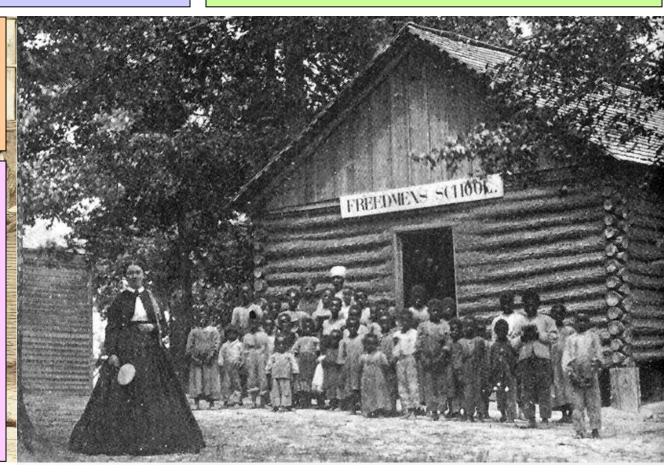

"Radical Republicans" in Congress led by Thaddeus Stevens opposed Johnson's Reconstruction plan and pushed for laws to protect blacks In 1865, Congress created the Freedman's Bureau to help former slaves

The Bureau provided emergency food, housing, and medical supplies Promised former slaves "40 acres and a mule" but never delivered

Agents went supervised labor contracts

Its most important legacy of the Freedman's Bureau was the creation of new schools

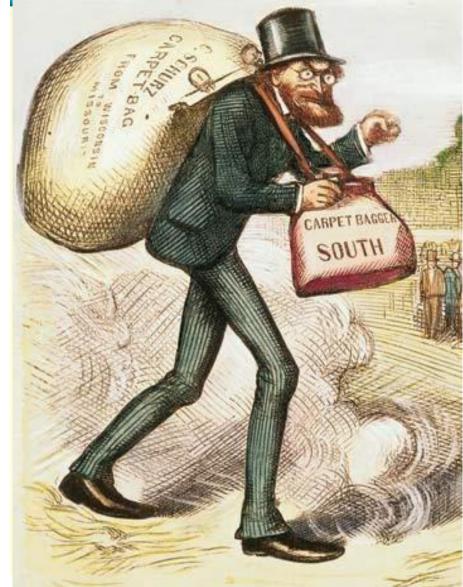

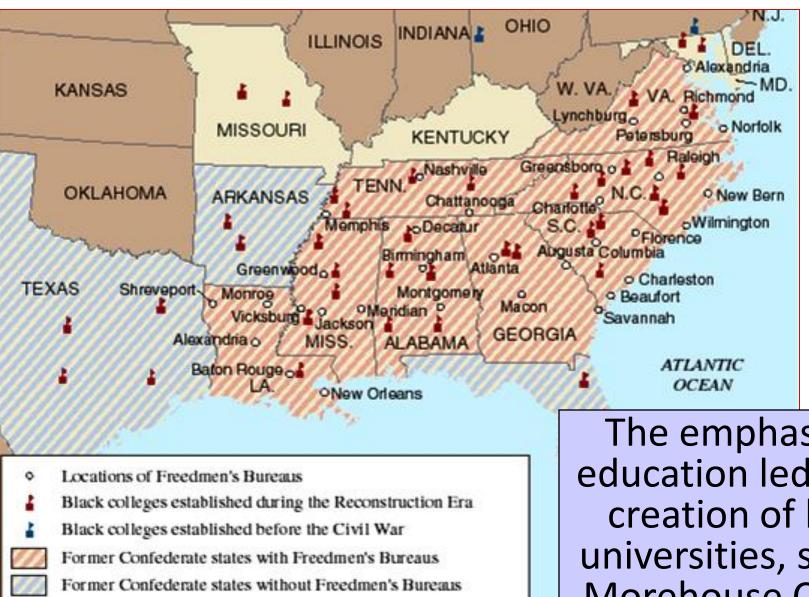

Former abolitionists and profiteers moved South were called "carpetbaggers"

The emphasis on education led to the creation of black universities, such as Morehouse College in Atlanta

former slaves as citizens and guaranteed all citizens equal protection under the law President Johnson thought that these new protections would anger Southerners and slow down Reconstruction

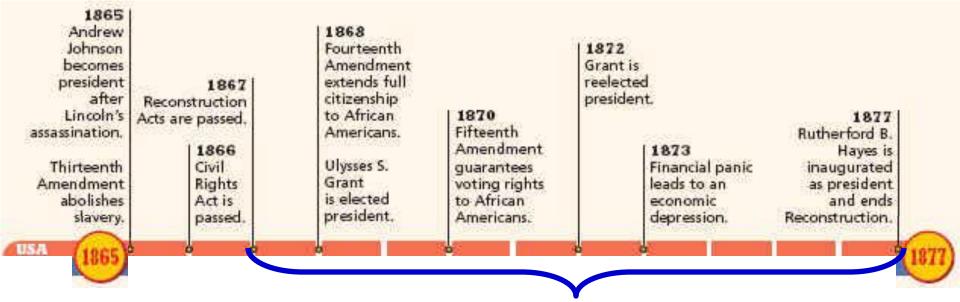

Johnson opposed the Freedman's Bureau and tried to convince states not to ratify the 14th Amendment

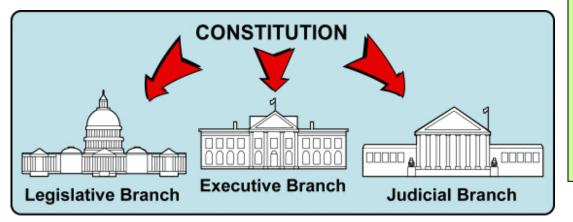

Political cartoon depicting the struggle between President Andrew Johnson and Congress over Reconstruction, published in Frank Leslie's Budget of Fun, November 1866. Johnson and Radical Republican leader Representative Thaddeus Stevens are pictured as drivers of locomotives that stand face to face on the same track. Johnson says in the caption, "Look here! One of us has got to go back," and Stevens replies, "Well, it ain't me that's going to do itou bet!" (LIBRARY OF CONGRESS, PRINTS AND PHOTOGRAPHS DIVISION)

By 1867, moderate and radical Republicans realized that they needed to take control of Reconstruction from the president

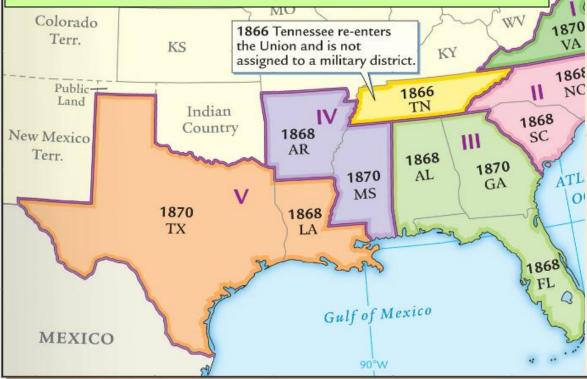

Radical Republicans in Congress created their own plan called Congressional Reconstruction (1867-1877)

Congressional Reconstruction was strict, protected the rights of former slaves, and kept Confederate leaders from regaining power in the South Congress passed the Reconstruction Act of 1867

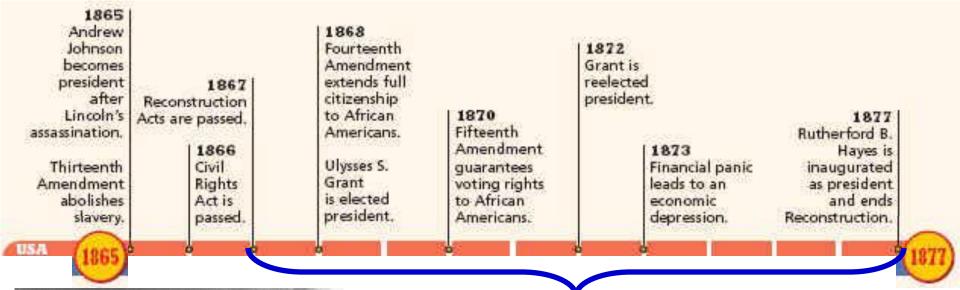

The South was divided into 5 military zones with US troops to enforce Reconstruction Ex-Confederate states were required to give black men the right to vote at the state level

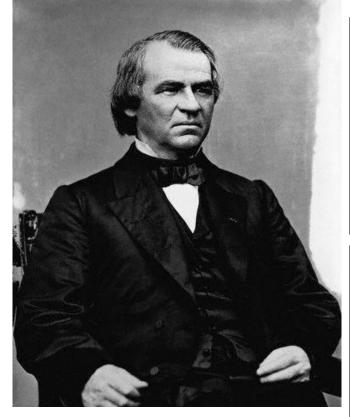

To be readmitted, states had to ratify the 14th Amendment protecting black citizenship

A MAN KNOWS A MAN

President Johnson obstructed Congressional Reconstruction by firing military generals appointed by Congress to oversee Southern military zones

He violated a new law called the Tenure of Office Act when he tried to fire his Secretary of War who supported Congress' plan Radical Republicans used this as an opportunity to impeach the president The House of Representatives voted 126-47 to charge Johnson with a crime

After an 11 week trial, the Senate fell 1 vote short of removing the president from office

Johnson successfully argued that he had not committed a "high crime or misdemeanor"

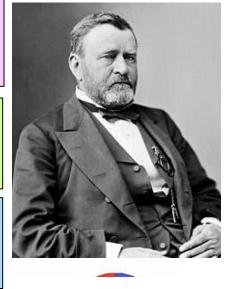

In 1868, Civil War hero Ulysses Grant won the presidency as a Republican candidate

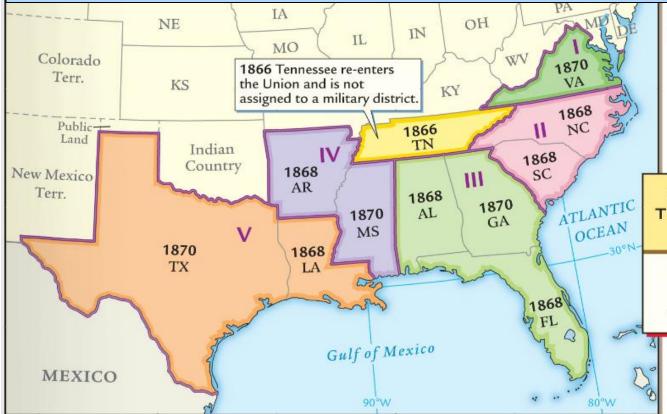

President Grant (1869-1877) worked with Congress to enforce Reconstruction

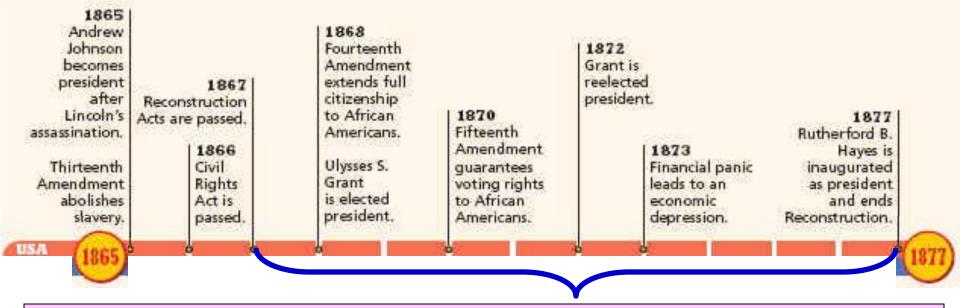

By 1870, all the ex-Confederate states were readmitted to the United States

> In 1867 the former Confederacy was divided into five military districts. District commanders replaced governors until the states were readmitted to the Union. Troops remained to protect black voters in some areas until 1877.

During Congressional Reconstruction, African Americans experienced unprecedented rights

The 15th Amendment gave black men the right to vote in 1870

The 1st black politicians were elected to state and national offices

Literacy and education increased among blacks

Black families were reunited, marriages were legally recognized, and black workers could make their own money

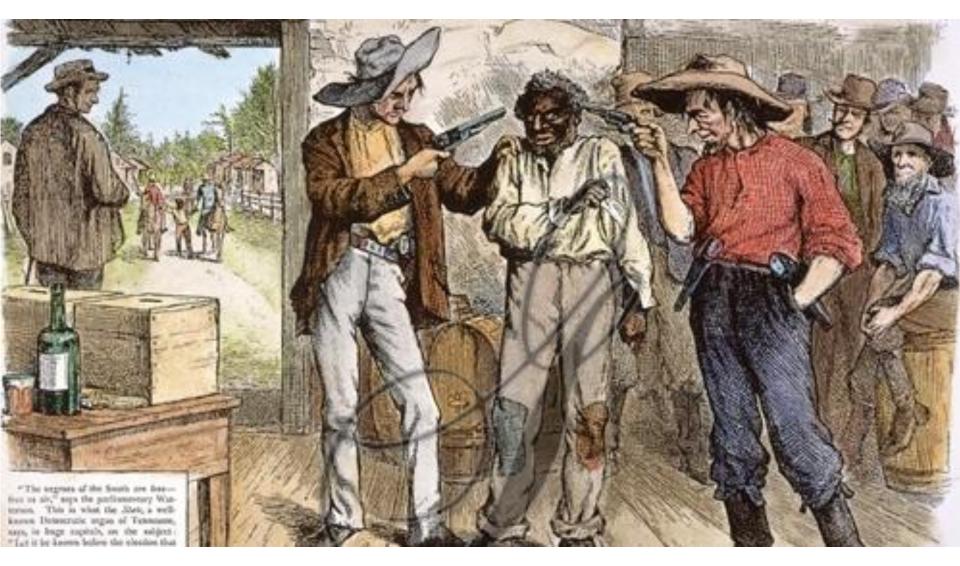

Reconstruction brought economic changes to the South

After the Civil War, the Southern economy became more diverse with new iron, steel, and textile mills

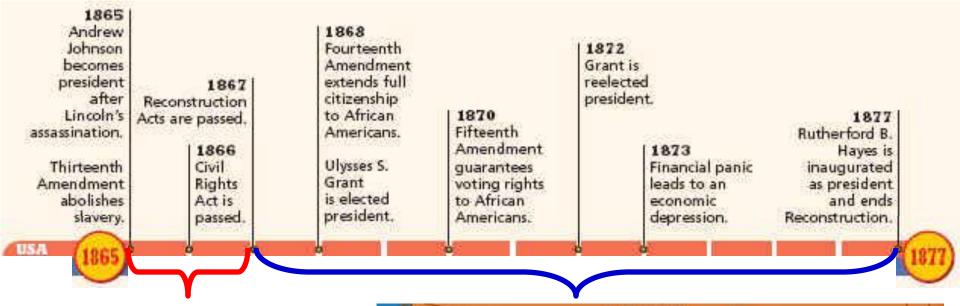

The new industrial economy required hired workers

The government built railroads and helped repair the South

Based upon the image below, what were the major failures of Reconstruction?

"Of course he wants to vote for the Democratic ticket"

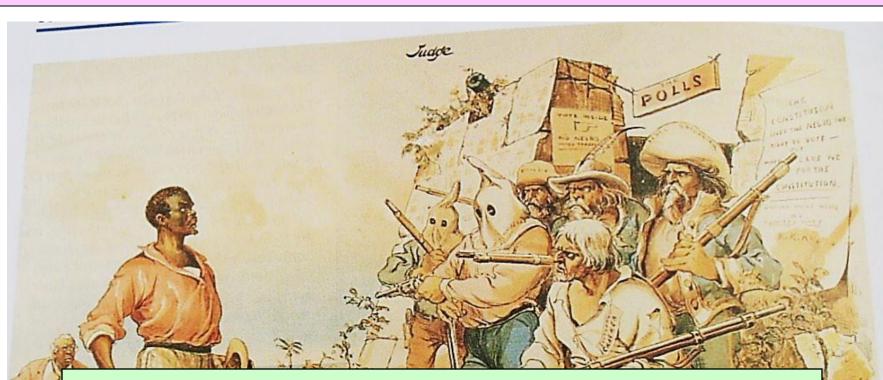

During Reconstruction, all eleven Southern states were re-admitted into the Union

The 13th, 14th, and 15th Amendments guaranteed rights and equality for blacks in the South

But, Reconstruction was difficult to maintain as Democrats slowly took back control of Southern states

Listen to the song "Good Ole Rebel" and write down 3 words or phrases that describe Southern white attitudes towards Reconstruction

Southern governments resisted Reconstruction by passing more discriminatory black codes

Black codes restricted blacks from serving on juries, testifying against whites in court, marrying whites, or owning land

These laws often restricted black workers from gaining skilled jobs or competing against white workers

Black men could be forced into slavery as punishment for a crime or for not paying back debts

The Supreme Court ruled against civil rights laws designed to protect African-Americans

Civil Rights Setbacks in the Supreme Court

Date	Decision(s)	Ruling
1873	Slaughterhouse cases	Most civil rights were ruled to be state, rather than federal, rights and therefore unprotected by the Fourteenth Amendment.
1876	U.S. v. Cruikshank	The Fourteenth Amendment was ruled not to grant the federal government power to punish whites who oppressed blacks.
1876	U.S. v. Reese	The Fifteenth Amendment was determined not to grant voting rights to anyone, but rather to restrict types of voter discrimination.

Southerners used violence and intimidation to keep blacks inferior to whites

The Ku Klux Klan was first formed during Reconstruction to attack blacks who tried to vote or challenge white supremacy

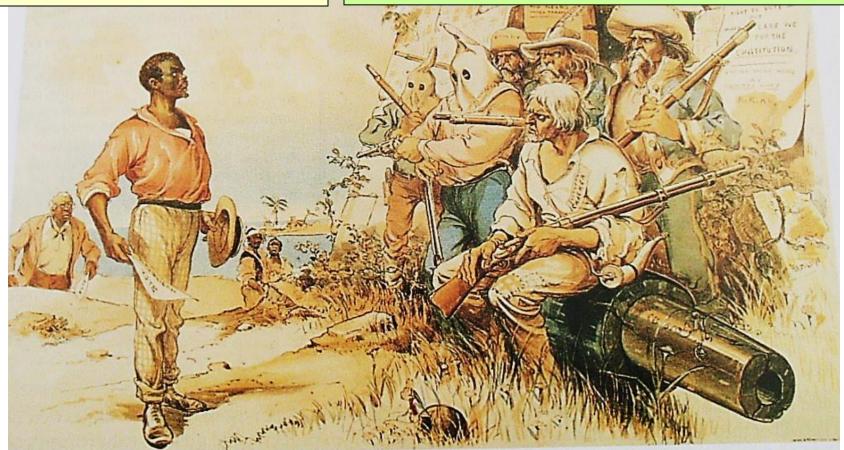

Lynching became more common

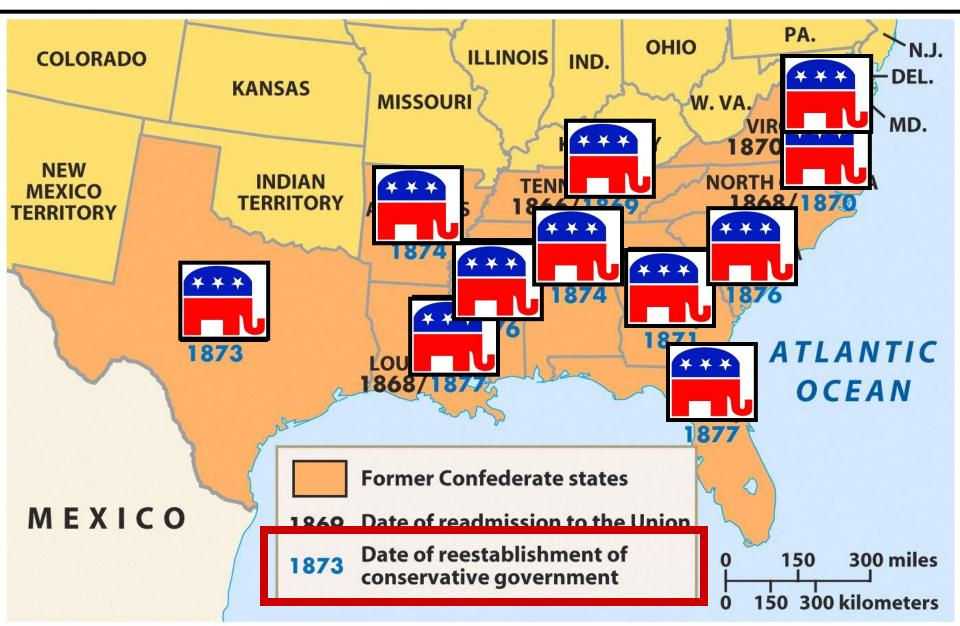

Southerners supported the return of the Democratic Party to state governments

Black codes and the KKK successfully limited black voting

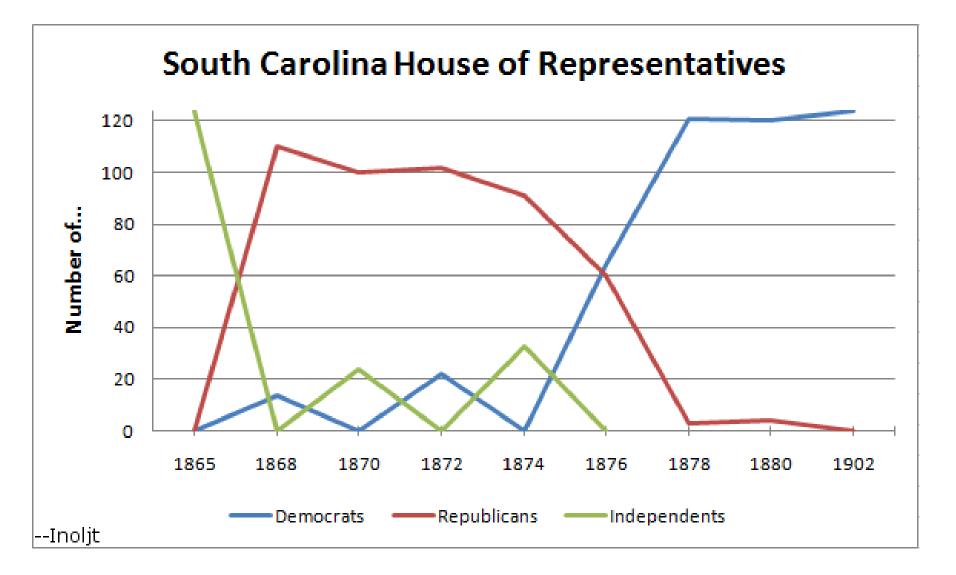

Federal troops in Southern military districts had difficulty protecting blacks

One-by-one, Southern state governments shifted from Republican control to the Democratic Party

These "Redeemer Democrats" hoped to restore the "Old South"

The Civil War ended slavery, but African-Americans had little job training or money for farm land

With few other options, most ex-slaves returned to the plantation to work

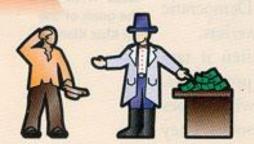

After the Civil War, slavery was replaced by sharecropping, also known as the tenant farming

The Sharecropper Cycle of Poverty

To pay debt, sharecropper must promise landowner a greater share of next year's crop.

When settling up, landowner says that sharecropper owes more than he has earned. Sharecropper is provided land and seed. In exchange, he promises landowner half the crop.

By the time sharecroppers had shared their crops and paid their debts, they rarely had any money left. Often they were uneducated and could not argue with landowners or merchants who cheated them. A sharecropper frequently became tied to one plantation, having no choice but to work until his debts were paid.

By the end of 1865, most freedmen had returned to work on the same plantations on which they were previously enslaved

Sharecropping remained in place until the 1940s

By the mid-1870s, the Democratic Party returned to power in most Southern states

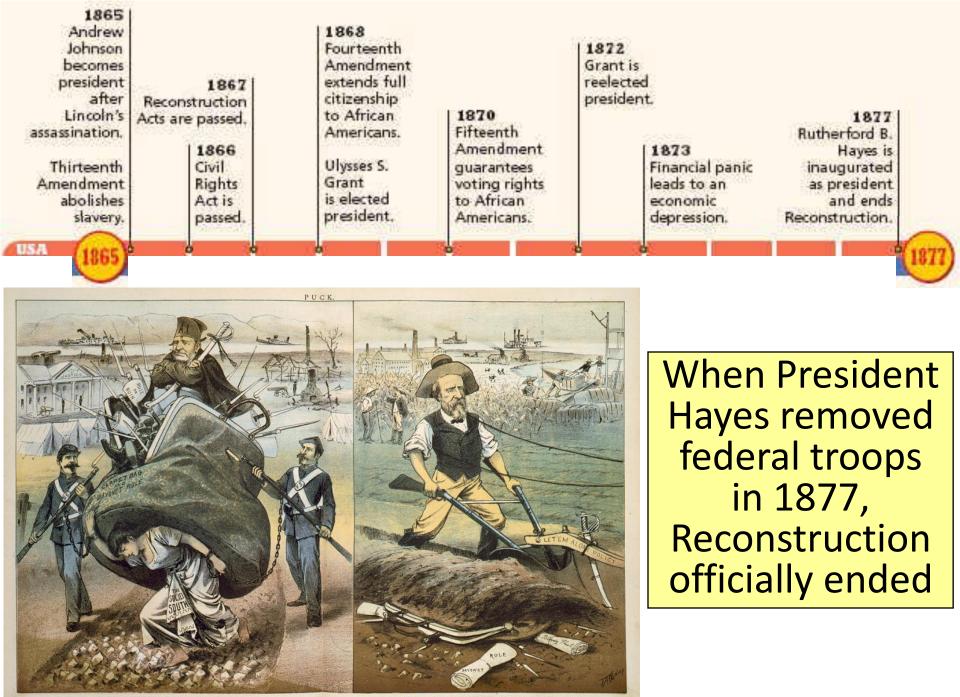

The only thing protecting blacks were federal troops

In the 1876 election, neither Democrat Tilden nor Republican Hayes won a majority of electoral vote

Republicans and Democrats in Congress agreed to the "Compromise of 1877" in which Democrats agreed to vote for Hayes as president if federal troops were removed from the South

THE "WEAK" GOVERNMENT 1877-1881.

When Reconstruction ended, the Jim Crow era began (1877-1954)

Jim Crow laws segregated Southern society and restricted blacks from voting with poll taxes and literacy tests
